A person can engage in one, two or all activities depending upon money and stamina.

Pattaya beaches are unique in their appearance from all other famous beaches. Its astonishing to witness how a town of 55 square kilometers and population of 1 million caters to 4 million visitors every year.

Food is the centre of Thai life. People eat almost at any time of the day. The restaurants and the street joints are sprawling across the city with full occupancy. Thai street food is very popular with the locals in Pattaya, Indian tourists may be slightly awry about it and would prefer to dine in preferably in an Indian restaurant.

Indians are traditionally very loyal to their own food and recipes. They do like to experiment but within the Indian food palette or maybe a little fusion with neighbouring delicacies. Unknown foods in an unknown terrain may be disappointing or even disturbing for travellers of Indian origin. So best is to do some home-work and fact-finding before eating out in any restaurant.

One may enquire about the type of restaurant, the dishes, the authenticity, the service, the ambience and most importantly, the price of the meal.

The hustle & bustle of busy streets and night life of Pattaya will keep you occupied for a while. If you wish to take a break and tickle your Indian tastebuds, please visit CHUTNEY INDIAN restaurant right in the heart of the city. CHUTNEY INDIAN is an Indian restaurant in Pattaya which offers a wide variety of Indian cuisine ranging from a samosa to a dum lamb Biryani, depending upon your hunger pangs. You will relish the authentic and exotic Indian food in a comforting ambience.

While Tandoori chicken remains an all-time favourite within Indian food, we are planning to add Indian Thali, both vegetarian and non-vegetarian to give an all-around experience of the Indian food. Thali gives a large variety of food in small quantities so that the customer gets to taste a wide variety of food in one platter. Thali is popular with people who have a good appetite.

We Indians generally travel in groups with friends or family. A good meal makes us happy. Good food supplemented with good hospitality create memorable experiences. They have always created strong bonds among people.

The décor of the restaurant is open, vast, inviting and relaxing. One feels like spending good amount of time here. The combination of delicious familiar food and courteous service staff makes the place worth visiting again.

Our staff and the Management strives everyday to maintain CHUTNEY INDIAN as the best single-stop shop for all kinds of Indian food in Pattaya suiting everyone's culinary tastes among friends and family. We undoubtedly are among the top Indian vegetarian restaurant and also among the top Indian non-vegetarian restaurant in Pattaya.
